Casarse: All of the Glamour, None of the Commitment.

On 24 January 2026, the Casarse: The Wed Gala commenced with a grand opening at Mount Carmel College, marking the beginning of "India's Biggest Fake Wedding". The proceedings opened on a high-fashion note, setting a vibrant and celebratory tone for the day as a premiere event under the Beat Battalion banner. The event established an auspicious and lively atmosphere, highlighting the intersection of tradition and contemporary style.

The venue was transformed by elaborate backdrops that captured the essence of a luxury wedding, featuring rich red hues, arched corridors, and ornate chandeliers that provided a sophisticated setting for the festivities. Complementing the visual grandeur, various stalls were organized, offering a dynamic platform for participants to engage in the "fake wedding" experience, exchange creative ideas, and explore diverse bridal and lifestyle exhibits.

The programme continued with a spectacular showcase featuring DJ Anshika, DJ Aziz, DJ Axel, and DJ Zeus whose presence reflected a harmonious blend of artistic expression and bridal elegance. This segment highlighted the gala's objectives of celebrating culture through fashion, offering valuable inspiration to the gathering. The event was further enriched by the curated aesthetic of the gala, providing a unique and intellectually stimulating take on traditional festivities.

Active participation at the stalls and photo-ops created a high-energy environment throughout the venue.
